

I am a listener to the regional radio station K-LOVE and it helps me in my life, connecting to the messages that are important to me and build a community. Because it is available throughout the area, I can listen to it in my home, in the car on the move and at work.

This is very important for me, because the information and subjects on this station are important to me, are good for my children to listen to because they are targeted at the family and the subjects are important issues for my Church community.

I will feel very lost when this station is not available on the air in my residence and surroundings as a strong radio signal, because that will not allow me to stay connected while commuting and otherwise on the move or at the workplace.

The message and topics on K-LOVE are a blessing for the public interest, because they are pure and not laden with pointers to do bad things. This and the outright call for community services and support are building up communities and a very good thing for the general public indeed. Taking this station from the air anywhere will take away one of the drivers for community-building.

Kind regards,
Cor van de Water